

An opportunistic fixed income strategy, designed to provide low correlation to core fixed income, offering current yield, low interest rate sensitivity and limited downside volatility.

FUND OVERVIEW

- The Semper Total Return Fund seeks to provide a high level of risk-adjusted current income and capital appreciation
- The Fund will be invested in fixed income securities similar to Semper Capital Management's existing $2.0 billion U.S.-domiciled MBS Total Return Strategy
- Investments will be concentrated in U.S. Mortgage-Backed Securities (MBS) including Non-Agency and Agency MBS and related structured credit sectors including Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities (CMBS) and Asset-Backed Securities (ABS)

FUND REVIEW

July performance for the U.S. Dollar SEMTIUU share class was +0.31%. Interest income was again the primary driver of performance, with price appreciation from Next Gen sectors contributing 10 basis points of performance. Portfolio turnover was about 7% as we moved out of several higher dollar priced Single Family Rental (SFR) bonds into new issue Credit Risk Transfer (CRT) and Non-Performing Loan (NPL) securities. We purchased several legacy bonds adding a 2% allocation to this sector. The portfolio's overall average dollar price declined by nearly a point, improving convexity.

MARKET HIGHLIGHTS

The U.S. yield curve steepened by 7 basis points, and the 10-Year remained steady as the Fed cut the target Fed Funds Rate by 25 basis points – the first rate cut in over 10 years. In the MBS sector, CRT spreads were mixed across sub-sectors. On-the-run Last Cash Flow (LCF) spreads were unchanged, while seasoned, higher dollar priced profiles widened 10–25 basis points on the continued expectation for higher prepayments. Other Next Gen sectors were marginally mixed, with SFR tranches unchanged, NPL senior securities 10-15 tighter, and Non-Qualified Mortgages (Non-QM) senior spreads slightly wider while mezzanine bonds - benefiting from potential de-levering - were as much as 15-25 tighter. Legacy RMBS spreads remained generally unchanged.

OUTLOOK

Given the likelihood of additional Fed rate cuts and global uncertainty, we expect U.S. interest rates to remain in a lower near-term range with a greater risk of steepening. We expect prepayment speeds to increase further and believe this is a positive for many RMBS profiles and more broadly as a fundamental positive for housing. Securities with prices at discounts to par and mezzanine profiles should benefit as prepayments pick up and bonds de-lever or build credit enhancement. We continue to maintain significant liquidity to benefit from attractive opportunities arising from expected volatility.
